

Table of Contents

Chapter 1: The “Ferdinand” tank with Ferdinand Porsche on board and Albert Speer at the controls.

Chapter 6: The first Glöckler special at Freiburg in 1950.

Chapter 8: The drive train for the Hunter included a clutch that allowed drive to the front wheels to be engaged or disengaged by the driver.

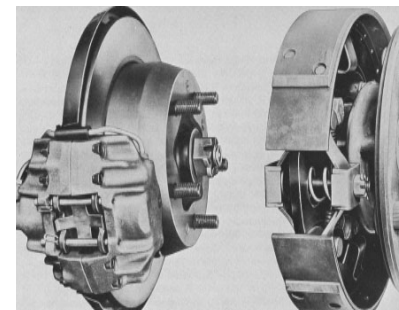

Chapter 10: Wolfgang von Trips in a modified 1957 works RSK at the 1958 Gaisberg, Austria, hillclimb.

Volume I

Preface to the 1977 Edition .....	xi
Preface to the 2003 Edition .....	xiii
1 Genesis In Gmünd 1900–1946 .....	3
Porsche Beginnings • The People of Porsche • Seeds of a Sports Car: Types 64 And 114 • Berlin to Rome: Type 60k10 • Honors and Armaments • Preserving the Legacy • Perils of Peace
2 The First Porsche: Type 356 1946–1949 .....	21
The Italian Connection • Cisitalia by Porsche • Conceiving the Porsche Sports Car • Testing the 356 Roadster • A Production Porsche • Preparing For Market • Selling The 356
3 Return to Zuffenhausen 1949–1953 .....	45
A Growing Concern • Financing Growth • First German Porsche • Enlargement to 1.3 Liters • Establishing a Reputation • Building for Export • Le Mans in 1951 • Von Hanstein Arrives
4 Coming of Age: The 1500 1950–1952 .....	65
Trial by Competition • Porsche Breaks Records • Invading America • Enter the 1500 Super • America Roadster • Variations on a Theme • Expanding in Zuffenhausen • Porsche Comes of Age • “Normal” and “Super” • A Transmission of Its Own • The Big Brake
5 Independent Prosperity 1953–1955 .....	83
Stepping Up to the Competition • The American Dream • Running Improvements • Handling the 356 • Cheaper, Faster: Speedster • New Power • Owner Loyalty
6 Making Tracks: Glöckler to 550 1950–1955 .....	95
Glöckler-Porsches • Porsche Builds Its Own Racers • The 550 Debuts • Fuhrmann’s Four Cams • Definitive 550 Spyder • Spyders in the Americas
7 Along Came the Spyders 1953–1956 .....	111
Enter the Buckelwagen • Shaking Down the Spyders • The Four-Cam Spyders at Le Mans • Developing The 550’s Handling • California Spyders • Porsche Racers for the People • Facing Tougher Competition • The Pesky Poopers
8 New Car, New Challenge: The 356A 1955–1959 .....	133
A New Field for Porsche • In Comes The A • The 356A in Volume • Improving the 356 T-2 • Another Take on the Open Porsche • Better Synchronesh • Generating Engines
9 Carrera: Going the Limit 1954–1962 .....	155
Definition of a Carrera • Putting it to the Test • New Body for Carrera • Refining the Carrera • Homologation Woes • Lightweight Carreras • Stronger Four-cam Engine
10 Rennsport Years 1956–1959 .....	175
Targa Without Warning • Seeds of the Spyder • The 550 Takes to the Track • Customer Spyders • Mickey Mouse Spyder • The RSK • Into the Hands of Privateers • The Wishbone Spyders

11 Enhancing a Classic: 356B and C 1959–1966 .....	201
Super B • Maintaining the Balance • Variations on a Theme • Carrera Too • Introducing Discs • Racing the Two-Liter • The DKS Carreras • The Final 356
Porsche Portfolio I .....	226
12 Open-Wheeled Odyssey: Formula Fours 1957–1962 .....	241
Formula for the Future • Exposing the Wheels • Eyeing Formula One • The Grand Prix Porsche • Eying Formula One • First Grand Prix Porsches • Waiting for the Eights
13 Raising the Stakes: Grand Prix Eight 1961–1962 .....	265
Grand Prix Credentials • Engine’s Architects • Defining the Eight • Building the Type 753 • New Car for a New Engine • Eight on Track • First Taste of Victory • Extracting More Speed • Withdrawal and Refinement
14 The RS Challenge 1960–1964 .....	289
Regulating the Racers • The RS 60 • Sixty Success • RS Privateers • 718 Coupes and the W-RS • Le Mans: Swan Song for the Factory Fours • The Two-Liter Eight • W-RS in America • Eight for Le Mans • Mountain Kings • After the Spyderys
15 904: Beauty with Speed 1963–1966 .....	313
Facing Tougher Opposition • Building the 904 • Carrera GTS Meets the World • Improving the 904 • Eight Into 904 • Six-Cylinder 904 • Abbreviating the 904
16 New Direction: 911 and 912 1959–1966 .....	333
Porsche’s New Breed • Four-Seater Inspiration • The Shape of Cars to Come • Changed Focus • Overhead Cams for the 901 • Under the Skin • Gearing for Production • Final Touches • The 911 Meets the Press • Variation on a Theme: The 912 • Opening the Top with the Targa
17 Carrera 6: Car of the Future 1965–1966 .....	359
The Piëch Era in Competiton • Envisioning the 906 • Six in the Carrera • Putting Power on the Track • Refining the 906 • Serious Results • Injecting New Life • More Cylinders for the Carrera 6
18 900s in Action 1959–1966 .....	379
Competitive Outings • Stretching the 911’s Appeal • More of a Good Thing • Expanding the Market • Enter the Sportomatic • Racing 911 • Elusive and Effective 911R • Living with the 911 • 911 Developments
19 Uphill to Success: 907, 909, 910 1966–1968 .....	399
Evolving Endurance Racers • Developing the 910 • 910 on Track • 910s for Privateers • The Striking 907 • Securing the Mountain Championship • 907 with a Strengthened Eight • Porsche’s Ultimate Hill Climber: The 909
20 908: Three-Liter Racer 1968–1971 .....	425
Birth of the 908 • The 908 Debuts • Aerodynamic Explorations • Winter of Development • Racing the ’69s • A New Era in Porsche Racing • Victory at Last • 908 in the 1970s • “VW Transporter” 908
Full Index .....	450

Chapter 11: The Porsche-Ate disc brake (left), as fitted to the 356C. At right is the hand brake.

Chapter 15: Gerhard Mitter placed second at Freiburg in August 1965 with the white 904/8 Spyder.

Chapter 17: Ferdinand Piëch, grandson of Ferdinand Porsche and nephew of Ferry Porsche, was the motivating spirit behind the creation of the Type 906 or Carrera 6.

Chapter 19: The Stommelen/ Ahrens Type 910 jumps at Brunnchen on the 'Ring in 1967.